Policy

ELIZABETH MACKNEY endeavours to provide a safe environment for participants, their representatives, support workers and other visiting Allied Health Professional (AHPs). In particular, it is recognised that participants need to be offered services in a safe environment and workers must be protected from injury wherever possible.

The nature of the many therapeutic support services does however require some risks to be taken for both the participant's progress and the need to provide services wherever possible in the participant's community (refer to Service Delivery Model and Rights & Responsibilities in the Service Agreement). Hence, it is difficult to ensure that all therapeutic environments are optimal. However, with the provision of appropriate assessments, training, and equipment and the arrangement of workplace conditions and structures, participant rights and responsibilities, ELIZABETH MACKNEY actively attempts to minimise potential hazards.

Procedures

Annual training on the following practices is undertaken as part of the Risk Management System review (recorded in Provider's Profile in the HR Register). Further review and updating, if / as required, of procedures is to occur if an incident occurs. (refer to Incident & Complaint Management Policy).

Specific policies have been developed for more common situations as below.

Incidents, Accidents, Risks and Near Misses

Elizabeth Mackney records all incidents (accidents and near misses) and potential risks are and recorded on the Incident & Complaint Report Form. Initial actions required are described on the form. For more details refer to the Incident & Complaints Management Policy.

Safety during community visits

- At time of referral, ascertain if any risks are likely to be present at time of visits
- On arrival at the participant service site, a community safety checklist is conducted (refer to Community Risk Assessment criteria). This covers both the physical and psychological environment and the participant's clinical risks. Any hazards (e.g. risk of participant falls, adequate space for services to be provided, abusive environment, dog present, smoking) are managed responsively and documented where necessary (e.g. program plan, incident and complaint report form)

Difficult participant / situation

ELIZABETH MACKNEY are NOT to continue working in a situation where they feel threatened or uncomfortable.

For Community/In-home Visits

- While at the visit:
 - Upon arrival at the new (or existing) participant's place, if in any doubt or concern as to safety (prior to entering the premise) call participant and tell them there has been an unexpected delay & cancel the appointment
 - If a situation arises during the appointment, do not hesitate to leave even if it appears impolite. If a suitable excuse cannot be found simply say you are unwell and remove yourself from the situation
- Complete an Incident & Complaint Report form
- Contact the participant the next day to discuss their home situation (considering the mutual obligations outlined in the Rights & Responsibilities in the Service Agreement and any strategies that could be put in place to allow the visit to be rescheduled
- If there are still concerns, contact the funding body and explain your concerns. They will likely investigate the situation further and determine ongoing action e.g. visit with 2 people, delay service until situation resolved
- If required, contact a colleague to allow a debrief to occur.

Mobile Phone Use Whilst Driving

- Use of mobile phones whilst driving needs to be kept to a minimum due to the additional risks of distraction whilst driving
- IF REQUIRED when answering or making a call when driving, the hands free connection fitted to the vehicle is to be used AT ALL TIMES.

Hazardous Manual Tasks

ELIZABETH MACKNEY will not undertake moving, transferring or lifting of participants. All manual handling will be carried out by the participant's representative and/or trained worker accompanying the participant to sessions (e.g. support worker).

First Aid

For injury to participant

- In general, only the most minor of assistance can be offered to participants by ELIZABETH MACKNEY and should, in the first instance, be provided by the Participant's representative/support worker.
- If the condition or injury is serious or if there is any doubt about the person's condition further medical assistance should be sought. This may involve calling an ambulance or transporting the person to the local medical centre.

For injury to ELIZABETH MACKNEY

ELIZABETH MACKNEY provides first aid supplies for minor injuries that occur in the workplace. A First Aid is kept in the car. Kit contents are regularly reviewed. This is to be used for own personal use in the event of a minor accident in the field or to apply a new dressing to own skin lesion pre or post service.

If the condition or injury is serious or if there is any doubt about the ELIZABETH MACKNEY's condition, seek medical care as soon as possible.

Infection Control Program

A variety of infection control measures are implemented by ELIZABETH MACKNEY including:

- Appropriate levels (as per the latest edition of NHMRC Immunisation Procedures Handbook) of immunisation / preventative cover.
- Application of the fundamentals of 'Standard Precautions' as appropriate to the working environment of AHPs. These precautions apply to all participants and cover:
 - Hand washing between participants. In group sessions where this is impractical use Anti Bacterial Hand Cleanser
 - Cleaning of equipment
 - Use of gloves if contact may be made with bodily fluid
- Appropriate items carried by ELIZABETH MACKNEY in the car
 - First Aid Kit
 - Anti bacterial / hand sanitiser Hand Cleanser

Transport of Equipment

- ELIZABETH MACKNEY to abide by correct lifting and carrying techniques when transporting equipment in and out of cars
- No equipment should be transported on the back seat unless secured.

Safety of Therapeutic Equipment

- Any therapeutic equipment (eg instruments) used will be regularly inspected to ensure safe for use. It will be repaired / replaced as necessary.

Premises (for those providing services in rooms)

- All property leased by ELIZABETH MACKNEY will be maintained in good condition including ensuring
 - Fire inspection has been completed
 - Electrical testing of equipment occurs (usually annually).
- Any incidence related to property management is recorded, reported to the landlord and followed up quickly and efficiently.

Protecting Participant's Property

- ELIZABETH MACKNEY & NDIS Code of Conduct outline appropriate behaviour for service delivery personal.
- ELIZABETH MACKNEY does not handle any participant cash or have direct access to any bank accounts etc
- All due care taken with participant property
